APARTMENT SEARCH & LIVING

AN INTERACTIVE GUIDE FOR STUDENTS: TRAINING FOUR

STAGE 4: LIVING WELL & STAGE 5: HOSTING RESPONSIBILITY
This online interactive guide is a resource for UIC students searching for off-campus housing. This online training will provide guidance and resources related to the following topics:

- The apartment search process
- Legal responsibilities of both tenants and landlords
- Navigating landlord/tenant issues
- Being a good neighbor off-campus
STAGE 1: Determine Affordability – Learning about your financial feasibility to prepare for your search.

STAGE 2: Apartment Hunting – how to search and select an apartment that best accommodates you.

STAGE 3: Moving In – things to consider upon moving into your new apartment.

STAGE 4: Living Well – navigating issues with landlords and hosting responsibly.

STAGE 5: Hosting Responsibility – continuing to learn about what makes a good tenant and a good neighbor.
STAGE 4: LIVING WELL

Living Well – Navigating issues with landlords and hosting responsibly.
Know that issues may arise when living off-campus so it is important to know your rights and responsibilities as a tenant. One key way to ensure you are aware of your rights is to learn about the Residential Landlord Tenant Ordinance (RLTO).

- The Residential Landlord Tenant Ordinance (RTLO) was originally formed to address the issue of renters being refused rental housing.
- Disadvantaged groups that found housing stayed in poorly maintained properties and were treated unfairly by their landlords as there were no guidelines or laws in place to protect them.
- The Residential Landlord Tenant Ordinance was established in 1986 by the Chicago City Counsel. The RTLO is your legal support in to know your rights as a tenant.
- Keep in mind that Tenant–Landlord Relationships and Rights varies depending on the state and city – The Tenant –Landlord Relationship and Rights only pertain to the city of Chicago.
THE RESIDENTIAL LANDLORD TENANT ORDINANCE (RTLO)

- Review the Residential Landlord Tenant Ordinance here.
- This document outlines your rights and responsibilities as a tenant.
- For an abridged summary of the Residential Landlord Tenant Ordinance, click here.
Residential Landlord Tenant Ordinance (RTLO) covers these topics and more:

- Tenant Responsibilities
- Landlord Responsibilities
- The right of access
- General duties
- Regulation of security deposits
- Bed Bug Regulations
- Subleasing
- Remedies

These topics will be discussed in more detail throughout this guide.
According to the Residential Landlord Tenant Ordinance, the tenant is responsible for:

- Paying rent on time (make sure you obtain receipts from your landlord)
- Following the terms of your lease
- Being courteous to neighbors – Get to know them
- Communicating maintenance issues
- Replacing batteries in smoke/CO detectors
- Treating the property/unit like your own
- Properly using appliances
According to the Residential Landlord Tenant Ordinance, the landlord is responsible for:

- Providing 2 days of entry to apartment – Landlord must notify tenant of intention to enter apartment. Or, if the landlord has entered the apartment (ex. Emergency repair) they must notify the tenant within 48 hours.
- Providing contact information – Preferred contact information also provided on the lease.
- Security Deposits
  - The landlord must provide the tenant with a receipt for the security deposit.
  - The security deposit should be placed in an interest-bearing account.
  - A landlord must return all security deposits and required interest, if any, minus unpaid rent and expenses for damages within 56 days from the date the tenant vacates the unit.

STAGE 4: LIVING WELL

BE A GOOD TENANT

Reporting Issues

There may be a time when you will need your landlord’s assistance with an issue. Some usual issues can be Minor repairs or defects:

- Broken shelf
- Broken handle
- Broken Dishwasher

Tenant Remedies:

- Request in writing that landlord make repairs within 14 days. If landlord fails to comply, tenant may withhold an amount of rent that reasonably reflects the reduced value of unit, OR…
- Have the repairs made and deduct up to $500 or ½ of the month’s rent (whichever is more) but not exceed one month’s rent
  - Receipt for the repairs must be given to the landlord, and no more than the cost of repairs can be deducted from the rent, OR
- File suit against landlord for damages

STAGE 4: LIVING WELL

BE A GOOD TENANT

Reporting Issues

1. Review the Residential Landlord Tenant Ordinance.
   - Based on the RTLO, what are your options? What laws have been violated? What timeframe must your landlord work within?
2. Contact your Landlord directly.
   - Contact your landlord via telephone or email or in person. It is important however to formally request action in writing.
3. Follow up as necessary.
   - It is important that you follow up with your landlord within the designated timeframe. If they do not respond to your issue according to the RTLO, additional action may be necessary.
Should you encounter an issue and wish for additional support, use the SquaredAway Web App. Created by the Metropolitan Tenants Organization, Squared Away allows you to report apartment issues, create a move-in checklist, generate letters of request to your landlord, and document the condition of your unit.

STAGE 4: LIVING WELL

BE A GOOD TENANT: REPORTING ISSUES

Things to remember

- Don’t be afraid to seek help or report your landlord.
- Landlords are not authority figures.
- Pursing your rights as a tenant won’t alter your immigration status
- There are resources designed to help and protect you.
- You can also report interpersonal issues (Such as a conflict with a tenant from a different unit or neighbor)
STAGE 4: LIVING WELL

ESTABLISH A ROOMMATE AGREEMENT – BEING A GOOD ROOMMATE

- After moving in set up a meeting with your roommate(s) about boundaries and each other’s expectations living together.
- Communicate – discuss your habits and routines. If issues or disagreements arise, communicate.
- Clean up after yourself.
- Respect your roommate(s) privacy
- Create a roommate agreement
Stage 5: Hosting Responsibility – Continuing to learn about what makes a good tenant and a good neighbor.
Hosting Parties & Social Gatherings

It’s natural for a student to want to invite friends over or hold gatherings at their apartment. However, part of being a good neighbor, tenant, roommate, and host takes a bit of planning.

Here are some tips:

- Set a plan with your roommates regarding how you will host.
- Who will be allowed into your residence?
- How many guests?
- How long will the party last?
- Make sure you notify your neighbors and/or other tenants that reside in the apartment building of your intention to host.

Provide an approximate start/end time to your gathering. Remember that not everyone is on the same schedule as you and your neighbors may have jobs or families to tend to in the morning.
STAGE 5: HOSTING RESPONSIBLY

BE A GOOD TENANT – BEING A GOOD NEIGHBOR

Hosting Parties & Social Gatherings - During the Party

- Designate a sober tenant
- Monitor and control noise throughout the party
- Don’t serve alcohol to people under 21
- Have the option of non-alcoholic drinks and food.
- Keep an eye on guests who have had too much to drink
- Talk to guests as they leave to determine their ability to drive or leave on their own
- Use the best judgement to diffuse violence
- Make sure your guests are disposing of trash properly. Provide a necessary amount of trash bins
STAGE 5: HOSTING RESPONSIBLY

BE A GOOD TENANT – BEING A GOOD NEIGHBOR

Responsible Party Host – After the Party

- Check shared Building spaces for garbage and debris.
- Monitor guests as they leave
  - Are they remaining outside your residence?
  - What is their noise level?
- Check in with your neighbors
